Plan To Be Submitted to Assistant Chief Today; Trial Halted Abruptly, Peace Conference Called.

Immediate and simultaneous retirement of Chief of Police James L. Beavers and First Assistant A. Lamar Poole as a peace move designed to restore harmony in the battle-worn camps of the warring heads of the Atlanta police department was seen Monday night following a conference between Beavers, members of the police committee and Mayor James L. Key.

The session was held at Key's Ponce de Leon avenue home, and ended with all those attending in complete accord. Poole, however, was not represented, but will be interviewed this morning as to his reaction, and it was predicted that he will agree to file his application for a pension at the same time Beavers' is filed.

Poole declined Monday night to comment on the matter. Poole as a peace move designed to re-

PREPARATIONS MADE FOR ROGERS SHOW

With only two days remaining be-fore the Rogers Pure Food Show and Household Exposition opens at the Palais Peachtree, preparations for the event are virtually completed.

Food products from all parts of the world will be shown in booths in this large hall during the nine days of the show. Carpenters and deco-rators are getting the place in readi-ness for the show.

All profits from the show will go to the Atlanta Junior League for the furtherance of its activities. The League chairman and sponsors have their plans in readiness for the opening of the show.

Attendance records for events of this type are expected to be broken by John W. Gates, the director. On Monday, April 18, the better baby contest will start, with daily winners to be chosen each day until Saturday, when the winners will be entered in the sweepstakes, and some fortunate youngster will be named as Atlanta's best baby.

During the baby contest there will be authentic information given to mothers for the baby health and diet by recognized authorities. There will be other attractions for the mothers, displayed by the exhibitors.

Monday, April 18, will also mark the beginning of the cooking classes, which will be conducted by Miss Fern Snyder, of the home service division of the Georgia Power Company. The cooking classes will be conducted each day starting at 2 o'clock.

Recalling educational institutions of history, once great but known now only because of famous alumni, Dr. Jack emphasized the relation of the student to the educational foundation, as the product which the institution is turning out, and left with his audience for self-analysis the five questions asked by Owen D. Young concerning true education: "Have you enlarged your knowledge of obligation and increased your capacity to perform? Have you developed your inclinations and made more sensitive your emotions? Have you discovered your mental aptitudes? Have you learned enough about the machinery of society and its history to enable you to apply your gifts effectively? Have you acquired skill in communication with others?"

Other guests seated on the platform with President Florence M. Read, of Spelman College, and Dr. Jack included Dr. Gordon Singleton and J. C. Dixon, of the state department of education Dr. W. W. Alexander, pres-

Onto and many of them have signified their intention to attend the convention.

This association, for 20 years, has taken a leading part in advocating systematic improvement and construction of highways throughout the nation. The meeting will be of national importance and significance—to urge continuation of federal aid if r roads—to urge congressional appropriation of one billion dollars for road purposes, to be divided among the states, without the 50 per cent state participating clause as now in federal aid laws. We advocate building a great system of national highways and bridges, including the bridging of 20 miles between Key West and Miami.

The opening session of the convention will be Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at Bayfront park, after which a reception will be held at the Columbus hotel. Regular meetings of the convention will be held on Wednesday and Thursday. A banquet will be given at the Columbus hotel on Thursday night.

Among the distinguished speakers that are on the program are Governor Doyle E. Carlton, of Florida; Assistant Secretary of War General Trubed Davison. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture R. W. Dunlap, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ernest Lee Jahncke, Hon. T. L. Kirkpatrick, president United States Good Roads Association; Hon. J. W. Barnett, chairman state highway commission of Florida, and other distinguished me will bring words of greeting to those in attendance.

After Use of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

If you are constipated, read this letter which Mr. Murray had attested by Notary Public:

"Two months ago I commenced using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to relieve constipation. I am in better health today than I have been in years, due to the use of your wonderful bran. My bowels move regularly, and my general health has improved 40%." — George A. Murray, 288 K Street, South Boston, Mass.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN brings two things needed to correct common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better to use ALI-

Gibson Put in Jail Cell

Informed that he was too ill to be allowed to go home, Paul Y. Gibson, 45, of 1310 Piedmont avenue, Monday night was sent to police station on a charge of disorderly conduct after he had expressed his indignation to Miss Connie Bailey, supervisor nurse at Grady hospital. Gibson, despondent over unemployment and his wife's ill health, earlier in the day had taken an overdose of sedative in an attempt to end his life.

Monday night Gibson, a patient in the ward over which Miss Bailey has supervision, demanded to be allowed to return home, but the nurse refused. When the patient voiced his resentment in what she considered an ungentlemanly manner, Miss Bailey summoned police, who took him to headquarters. There Gibson admitted he had "used a couple of dams," but insisted he had not been either profane or blasphemous. either profane or blasphemous.

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither alve; nor mine," Beavers said.

Branch questioned Beavers closely on this line, asking whether the charges that Poole had failed or refused to make a daily report every day of 1931 and part of 1932 were true. Beavers said that he knew Peole had made a few reports.

Negro Witch Doctor's Powers Fail To Save Him From Prison

VALDOSTA, Ga., April 11.—(P)—
The vaunted powers of James Crumpley, negro witch doctor who allegedly attempted to intimidate witnesses summoned in a murder case here, failed to save him from the Lowndes county jail last week, it was announced today—because Patrolman John Rogers does not fear black art.

The officer learned that Crumley allegedly had threatened and conversed with negroes summoned as witnesses, for and against B. Stafford, negro, who is charged with slaying Willie Duncan on the night of February 28. Police officers are not afraid of voodoos, and the officer was not disamyed when, upon his arrest, Crumley shook a handsomely carved walking cane which rattled ominously.

Crumley, officers sald, approached both witnesses for the defense and the prosecution, offering to lend his powers to the outcome of the case—for a certain sum of cash. He told the prosecutor he would cause B. Stafford a certain sum of cash. He told the prosecutor he would cause B. THE TAX PROBLEM

Taxes paid by the railroads of the United States in 1931 were 3½ times as much as their net income. For every dollar received by the owners of the railroads, the tax collectors got $3.46. The Central of Georgia last year reduced every item of expense within the control of the management, the decrease from the previous year being $2,141,459, or 13 per cent. In contrast, the tax expense, over which the management has no control, increased $19,211, or 1½ per cent. The tax payments in 1930 were $1,322,-863, and in 1931 were $1,342,074.

The railroads, like other citizens, are suffering under a heavy tax burden. During the last 12 years the population of the United States has increased 27 per cent, and the cost of Federal Government has increased 338 per cent. The cost of state, county and municipal government has kept pace, and the total tax burden is now nearly 15 billion dollars per year. For every $4.50 of average income per capita, $1.00 goes for the expense of government. In this emergency the tax-payers should urge upon their senators and representatives, both national and

Clinical experiments show that copper, in proper combination with iron and yeast vitamin, brings amazing icrease in the vital, strengthening red corpuscles of the blood and a remarkable improvement in general health and physical well-being. The increase in red blood corpuscles, which give the body strength and ability to resist disease, is sometimes as much as twenty five per cent! In combating general weakness and anemic conditions, which frequently baffle the most skilled specialists, the tremendous value of this latest discovery can hardly be over-estimated. Medical science hails it as an achievement of the greatest importance.

Iron, heretofore, has been the greatest trength-builder known; yet it was not always successful in bringing the necessary increase in the all-important red blood corpuscles. There seemed to be something lacking. Now clinical tests show copper supplies this missing element and, to quote one eminent authority, "enables the system to absorb the iron easily," and create the vigorous red blood corpuscles so vital to human health.

From Savannah he went to the Macon News as state and went to the Macon News as state and telegraph editor and special writer.

Two and one-half years later, Gorge Long, editorial writer of the Macon Telegraph, died, and Mr. Shipp was called to this position. His work on the Telegraph attracted wide attention. Leaving the Telegraph in 1925, he joined the staff of the Atlanta Journal. Later he became secretary for Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, in Washington, and after research work and newspaper correspondence there, returned to Atlanta to publish a magazine. Later he went to Columbus as a reporter on the Enquirer-Sun, rejecting an offer to become city editor of a western daily because of his desire to return to Georgia.

His father, Charles Jackson Shipp was born and reared at Cusseta, prac-ticed law while a young man in Co-lumbus and later went to Cordele to head a newspaper there.

A few years ago the government of Mexico was too weak to maintain peace and order. The land seethed with revolution. The revolutionists operated in small and irresponsible bands, without discipline or common purpose, and looted private property to get money for ammunition. In the eyes of civilization they were bandits.

American citizens owned mines, ranches, oil wells and other proper ties in Mexico, all legally obtained, and made fortunes for themselves while the less efficient natives remained poor. When their properties were looted, they appealed to their own government for protection.

One of the bandit leaders named Villa, hating the Americans who ook wealth from his land, led his followers across the international border under cover of darkness and attacked a sleeping regiment of cavalry

Woodcock Not To Suspend Two Prohi Agents in Texas Killing.

WASHINGTON, April 11.-(A)-Prohibition enforcement activities could be maintained with the present efficiency with "a substantial cut" in its budget, Director Amos W. W. Woodcock said today, "but there would not be increased efficiency."

Simultaneously the director au nounced he would not suspend two federal agents accused of killing a Dallas, Texas, man until, or unless, he received evidence the act, was not in self-defense.

Prior to the latter statement, the supreme court rendered a decision that agents are prohibited from searching for evidence after making an arrest if they do not have a search warrant.

The enforcement allotment recently was cut by the senate appropriations committee from $11,000,000 to $10,-000,000. The dry chief said $700,-000 could be eliminated from the allotment without retarding enforcement. This would mean, he said, the abolishing of training schools for agents, eliminating duplication of su-agents, eliminating duplication of supervision of permits, and cutting out the office of assistant prohibition administrator, and also a saving in administration of about $200,000. Woodcock said Laurence C. Smith and Nathaniel D. Heaton, agents, charged with fatally shooting F. M. McGlothlin, would not be suspended pending further investigation. He said a prohibition agent "has as much right to protect himself as anybody."

Hafey Traded to Cincinnati; Cubs Start Without English.

By Alan Gould,

Associated Press Sports Editor. NEW YORK, April 11.—(P)—A series of eleventh-hour developments today, all calculated to have a distinct bearing on the pennant races from the outset, marked the preparations of major league baseball clubs for the general opening ceremonies, scheduled tomorrow in eight cities under dubious weather conditions.

While a cold wave blew into the middle west and a rainstorm swept the east, the world champion Cardinals traded the National league batting king, Chick Hafey, to the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for Pitcher Bennie Frey and Harvey Hendrick, an allaround handy man.

LEAD TO REDS.

Thus it apears all holdout trails lead down the river to Cincinnati's outfield. Hafer will join an ex-teammate, Taylor Douthit, fleet centerfielder, who used to worry the Cardinal front-office, and Babe Herman, recalcitrant Brooklyn slugger, who figured in the year's biggest player swap last menth.

Together they give the Reds one of the strongest outfields in either big league and increase the prospect that last season's eighth-place outfit will be a sensational factor in the 1932 race. The Cardinals now face exceptionally strong challenges, minus two of the biggest cogs in their championship machine—Hafey and Burleigh Grimes. It remains to be seen whether the world champions can offset the loss of these stars by getting pitching results from new men.

these stars by getting pitching results from new men.

ENGLISH OUT.

Meanwhile one of the Cardinals' chief rivals, the Chicago Cubs, must start the season without Elwood English, star shortstop, out with a broken finger, while another contender, Brooklyn, tries the veteran George Kelly on first base to fill the gap caused by the disablement of Del Bisonette.

In the American league camps, starting lineups also were affected by late developments.

Washington's star shortstop and cleanup hitter, Joe Cronin, was not sufficiently recovered from an attack of toncillitis to get into the opening of toncillitis to get into the opening game against Boston.

Detroit, apparently dissatisfied with the condition of Dale Alexander, slugging first baseman, sent a hurry call for Harry Davis, of Toronto, to take over this job in the opening tussle with Chevland tomograw.

The New York Yankees have shaken up their lineup for the opening skir-mish of their pennant battle with the Athletics at Philadelphia, Sammy Byrd, due to his sensational spring hitting, was picked to replace the vet-eran Combs in center. The infield was due to start with Lyn Lary at short-stop, the position he played last year, and his spring place at third taken over by the spectacular recruit, Frank Crosstif.

Although weather prospects have upset calculations, more than 200,000 fans are expected to witness the eight games listed tomorrow.

Governor Russell To Toss First Ball Thursday; Fans To Honor "Red" Barron.

By Jimmy Jones.

It is opening day. Not in Nashville, Birmingham or Little Rock, but Atlanta. The blare of the trumpets, the shrill of the traffic whistles in Atlanta. and the hullaballoo of the newsboys will let you know about it early Thursday morning.

Even at the governor's mansion, there will be bustling about. Georgia's youthful executive, Dick Russell, will toss the first ball. Don't snicker. The governor used to be regarded as a fair chunker. His battery mate will be Dr. Rayford W. Tharpe, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce:

Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, and Dr. S. V. Sanford, president of the University of Georgia will be at home plate to shake hands with Red Barron.

Then they will strike up the bands two of them. Georgia Tech's 70-piece GEORGE MEETS band will be there to whoop it up for Barron, one of Tech's greatest half-backs, and the G. M. A crew of marines will hoist the old Stars and Stripes in cen-ter field. Then of course the bands will bear down on the "Star-Spangled Banner" and the fans will brush the peanut shells out of their laps and stand up.

There is no doubt but that the opening day" committee of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce has done things up brown. Mr. George Yancey and his fellow committeemen have been seen scampering hither and yon about the town for several days. They have been very busy men. STORES CLOSE.

Yancey announces that he has received favorable replies from many Atlanta firms regarding the closing of their places of business in compliance with Mayor Key's proclamation. And while certain portly gentlemen of the city council and offices strive manfully to get that ball over the plate today in four Southern league cities, the folks back in Atlanta will be doing their bit.

A meeting of the boxing commission, which controls wrestling, will be held within a short time to assign other dates. Warren is angling for Sonnen-berg. The Crackers have the spirit.

Yesterday a player was asked by someone if he thought "we" would split the series in Nashville. "Split it, the mischief! We're going to take both of them." Even old Rube Marquard (the old is used advisedly) has imbibed the spirit of youth. The Rube pitched a full ball

VOLS PLANNING GALA OPENING WITH CRACKERS

Crowd of 20,000 in Prospect; Red Barron Makes Debut.

By Ralph McGill.

By Ralph McGill.

EN ROUTE TO NASHVILLE WITH CRACKER BALL CLUB, April 11.—With bombs bursting in air amid the rockets red glare the Atlanta Crackers and the Nashville Vols will open their Southern association baseball season Tuesday afternoon within the small confines of Sulphur Dell, home of the Vols.

Prospects are that the 18 men headed by the brand-new Cracker manager, David Irenus (Red) Barron, will play before at least 16,000 people if the infra red rays are turned on all day by a benign sun.

Greased pigs, fireworks, chords and discords by 15 massed bands, the usual public appearance of the mayor and the governor, will be just a few of the acts which Hugh Smith, Nashville's human dynamo, has arranged to help pull in what will be a record crowd for Nashville.

BREAK IN SUITS.

BREAK IN SUITS.

Red Barron had his club in their new uniforms this afternoon just to take off the bad luck of newness. The redhead did not place himself on the list, waiting to see what his outfield will do. Johnny Cummings, who once went to school at Vanderbilt in Nashville, will be the extra outfielder. Johnny Morrison, the right-handed curver, and Bunny Hearn, the left-handed curver, will do the pitching chores. Red Barron is carefully concealing who will pitch. It is probably that Bunny Hearn will be the choice because he is left-handed and a left-hander has a better chance to keep balls from being hit over the short rightfield fence in Nashville.

The two will be looked over care-

The two will be looked over carefully, however, and if Morrison's control is good he will be in there when the umpire shouts "Play ball!"

NEW INFIELD.

NEW INFIELD.

The Cracker infield is practically brand-new. Only Johnny Chapman, the hammering third baseman, returns from last season. Hal Bejin, the fielding fool, will be at first base. Lenny Mock will be at second and Bobby Goff at short.

The outfield is familiar. It includes Cy Rosenthal, Red Barnes and Roy Carlyle, And the outfield is the powerhouse whereby Red Barron hopes to generate enough power to get the club up the elevator into the first division. first division.

The pitching is uncertain and the infield no better, if as good, than that which Red Barron will send into action. The Vols do not figure quite as strong as the Crackers despite reports to the contrary.

And so the old, old ride has started. The Crackers are on their first ride of the season. There is no doubt but that both teams will be handicapped in the game tomorrow. The Nashville park is small. A crowd of 10,000 will cause it to crack open and overflow down on the already cramped playing field.

CHAMPS MEET NEW ORLEANS

Travelers, Pels Are Figured in Possible Three-Cornered Race.

Birmingham starts the Southern Baseball Association campaign today favored to win its second straight crown, but if player shifts in other camps prove as successful as expected the Barons may not make the runaway race they did last year.

With such strong and improved teams in the field as the New Or-leans Pelicans, the Little Rock Trav-elers and the Memphis Chickasaw, Clyde Milan's Barons, even if they are as powerful as a year ago, can hardly hope for another romp to the

through the turnstiles at the four parks.

Indications now point to at least a three-cornered battle for the flag between Birmingham, Little Rock and New Orleans, with Memphis and Chattanooga as possible giant-killers.

Birmingham lost a fine outfielder and swatsman in Art Weis and a good third baseman in Charley Gooch, but in other respects the Barons offer about the same front as in 1931. Weis hardly will be satisfactorily replaced but in Moore, Abernathy and Prerost Milan has a capable and hard-hitting trio. Art Hord may field better than Gooch but his bat will be less potent.

WILLIAM E. PHARR That the individual taxpayer can

That the individual taxpayer can take action that might tend to lessen the present oppressive burden of taxation is the assertion of President H. D. Pollard, of the Central of Georgia, in a statement published today. Discussing the increase in taxes, Mr. Pollard says:

"During the past 12 years the population of the United States has increased 27 per cent, and the cost of federal government has increased 338 per cent. The cost of state, county and municipal government has kept pace, and the total tax burden is now nearly $15,000,000,000 per year. For every $4.50 of average income per capita, $1 goes for the expense of government." RITES CONDUCTED The funeral of William Edward Pharr, 84, pioneer Atlantan, was held Monday afternoon at the chapel of Awtry and Lowndes, with Dr. J. Sprole Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment was in West View cemtery.

Miss Carol Hess Weds Mr. Long, Of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., at Biltmore

Miss Carol Hess, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron C. Hess, become the bride of Clinton Mayer Long, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. at a beautiful ceremony solemnized at 7:30 o'clock last evening at the Biltmore hotel.

Dr. David Marx, of the temple, read the marriage service, which was held in a private parlor on the mazanine floor of the hotel, amid a scene of exquisite floral beauty. The ceremony was witnessed by relatives and a few close friends of the bride-elect.

Prior to the program of wedding music, an orchestra rendered "Pomp and Circumstance," following an old wedding tradition of Wellesley College girls, the bride being a graduate of Wellesley.

Graceful madonna lilies formed the keynote of decoration for the wedding. Before a series of white arches, studded with cilles, an altar was formed of tropical palms, ferns and madonna lilies, which served as an madonna lilies, and connected with wide white satin ribbons, were placed at intervals to form an aisle through which the bridel party passed to the altar.

violin cello, and Charles Beaton, piano.

The lively rhythm of the Scherzo caught the imagination of the audience and the rendition of this piece, replete with joyous animation, was fairly contagious. The ever beautiful Andante Cantabile, the dolorous strains of which once inspired Tchaikowski, found its able interpretation in the hands of the quartet. There was that subtle restraint, that undercurrent of melancholy and flowing melody in which the composer

There was that subtle restraint, that undercurrent of melancholy and flowing melody in which the composer sought to express his artistic soul.

In the second part of the chamber music program the quintet, Miss Agnes Adams, second violin, and Miss Hazel Wood at the piano, opened with "Allegro Brillante." This scintillating and colorful bit of Schumann's whimsical fantasy was played with a surprising volume of resonance and full of tone.

"Largamente," with its slowly measured cadence of a traditional March Funebre, was very impressive, and the second Scherzo, while splendidly done by the string instruments, gave the pianist (Miss Hazel Wood) an opportunity to lend her color to the ensemble. Her fine technique and innate musical sensitiveness enabled the piano not only to lend its necessary support, but blend most harmoniously with the entire ensemble. Atlanta Conservatory of Music ensemble showed its individual and collective musicianship, orchestral continuity and seasoned artistry.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

Beginning Thursday, April 14, the pure food show and home exposition to be staged by Rogers, Inc., at the Palais Peachtree will be in full swing until Saturday.

23. Afternoon performances will open at 2:30 o'clock and continue until 5 o'clock, while night shows will start at 7:30 o'clock and last until 11 o'clock. Tickets will be 25 cents at the gate, but only 15 cents at any Rogers store. This is a small price to pay for such a variety of high-class entertainment and the record of attendance should easily surpass any previous year.

April 23. The Junior League is sponsoring this event for two reasons, first, because we are interested in raising food standards in Atlanta, and second, because all the production ond, because all the production of the show will go to charity, the Junior League to eceive a share for our ward in the Henrietta Egleston Memorial hospital.

At the April meeting of the Junior League the election of officers for 1932-33 took place and the Jutings behalf of the league, wishes to congratulate these girls who were selected for their proven value as leaders until the Junior Heague to receive a share for our ward in the Henrietta Egleston Memorial hospital. At the April meeting of the Junior league to receive a snare for our ward in the Henrietta Egleston Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Russell Bellman is Junior League chairman and has been hard at work making plans in which the league will participate. She announces that Regenstein's Peachtree store will have a booth at the show, where they will exhibit for the opening dainty cotton dresses, later changing to an array of baby clothes, and winding up the exposition with a showing of gorgeous furs. They have kindly offered this booth to us as Junior League headquarters, and thus it will be that the special Junior League attraction, the Bobby Jones golf sticks from Spalding's and a silver fox fur from Regenstein's own fur department will be on display here. Chairman of this feature will be Mrs. John O. Chiles, who, as the indefatigable publicity chairman for the food investigation work done recently by the league in connection with Rogers, Inc., has proven herself an invaluable member to our organization.

WHAT HAS GONE REFORE: When Judy Allison had been in Chicago for six months without fluding work her father wired her to return to her small-town home. Downcast by her failure, she went to the tea room in her rooming house. Dick Mason, chief radio announcer at WAOA, saf at her table. Impulsively Judy showed Dick her father's telegram. Following Dick's insistence, she reported for a radio tryout the following morning. From all the applicants, she was chosen for the "Beauty Builders'" program. While Judy was talking with Elton Day, writer of script for her programs. Lona Rurdette came up and saked why he had thrown her down "for some new kid from the country." Day relis Judy Lona is a trouble-make. While Judy was rehearsing with Elton, he received a telenhone call which greatly disturbed him. When Judy reached home that night she found a telegram from Elton Day which read, "Don't report for work tomorrow. Had to give the part to someone else." Judy was preparing to go home to Kansas when Dick persuaded her to report at the studio the following morning.

CHAPTER XXIV.

heard 'em all. And it was a walkheard 'em all. And it was a walk-away for you, Judy. All the way through. So—ouch! It's 11:42. I'm on the air in just three minutes with the Midday Philosopher. So, Judy! Will you wait? I'll be through in 20 minutes and I've got an hour and a half about it."

She drew away from him. Her hands were trembling, her throat was dry and hot. "Mr. Day, you mean somebody did something to the wires on my voice sounded all right and the other didn't!"

"Perhaps. But I wouldn't worry about it." Midday Philosopher. So, Judy! Will you wait? I'll be through in 20 minutes and I've got an hour and a half off and we can have Junch downtown somewhere—maybe at the Blackhawk. Like to meet Earl Burtnett? Like to meet Art Jarret? Swell orchestra. Nice boy, Art. He's got his own orchestra now. And—well—you wait right here. I'll be back in no time!" He dashed through the crowd, disappeared down the corridor. And Judy, obedient, sat down. She sat for a long time, watching the pople who passed in and out of this house of voices. Men carrying musical instruments. Men carrying great sheaves of manuscript. An earnest, ancient Indian who wanted to see somebody who needed a man to be an Indian tontom-pounder.

Three girls, obvious sisters. The Boswell Sisters, Judy knew from seeing their pictures in the papers so often. Singers who got. $3,000 a week, or almost. And more people. And still more. Among them, at last. Elton Day, talking earnestly to a man near the desk, stopping to smile and talk for a second, then moving toward the elevators.

Suddenly she followed him.

"Mr. Day!" she called. And again, "Mr. Day!" she called. And again, "Mr. Day! Please!"

He must have been smiling before the turned. As though he was used to smiling in that same way at all the people who called after him. All the figirls.

"Oh—congratulations!" he said. "Congratulations, Judy!"

Was there mockery in it? Was there something hidden behind the bainal word? Knowing him a little better, seeing more clearly, Judy knew that there was mockery, close to the surface. So she was more sure than ever that she must talk to him.

"Are you going to your office?" she asked.

"Yes. Won't you come along?"

"You made me a cheat. too! You made me a cheat. too! It is wait in.

"Be said! You had something

"Are you going to your office?" she asked.

"Yes. Won't you come along?"

"I will."

He did not seem at all surprised.
"All right, then." He bowed to the elevator man. "Take us to my floor and be smart about it, my man. Time presses. Honestly, it does."

The elevator man snorted, unimpressed.

Gay, very gay, Elton tapped Judy on the shoulder now.
"And to what do you attribute your success?" he demanded. "What shall I tell your public, Mme. Vere de Vere? Your public who wait so longingly to know the story of your rise to fame. Your public who—"

The elevator door opened, and Judy, ignoring him utterly, walked ahead of him down the hall, into his office."

"I thought I'd lost you, Judy." "Of course not. Oh, of course ignoring him utterly, walked ahead of him down the hall, into his office. Then, "Close the door, please," she

"Perhaps I do. But then?" "What did you do?"

"Nothing. But of course-Let me tell you a story, Judy. Once there were three orchestras, and they all wanted the same job. And of course three orchestras can't have one job. You see, it's impossible. So two of them had to be left out in the cold. And there were two very good orchestras, and one not quite so good. But She knew she ought to smile. She ought to be proud. She ought to be almost crying with happiness. But a small cold fear ran through her heart. A fear of Lona, the way she had looked, more the tone than the words she had said. And a fear of something else, something indefinable. "Dick, you're sure everything was all right?"

"Of course. We had a list and we heard 'em all. And it was a walk-awar for you Ludy. All the way."

When they entered the restaurant the orchestra leader came up to Dick. "Something you'd like especially, Dick?" he asked.

found the market poorly padded. The session ended with 90 stocks averaging at a new low, fractionally under last Friday's minimum. Declines of 1 to 7 points in active issue more than cancelled gains made on Saturday.

The senatorial inquiry apparently had little, if any, effect on the day's trading. Brokers said short selling was a negligible factor and that the market's chief trouble was the same liquidation which Mr. Whitney stressed as the source of recent selling in principal issues.

Wheat's strength encouraged a mild rally around mid-afternoon, but late weakness in rails robbed the recovery of any momentum and final prices were close to the bottom.

Few leaders, at one time or another, failed to make new lows. U. S. Steel closed at 33 5-S. down 1 1-S. American Can sold under 50 for the first time in this bear market and was a couple of points lower at the finish. American Tobacco "B." was aff about 2. Food shares met little upport.

There was nothing to account for he late break in rails. Southern Palfic, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & hio sagged about 1. Utilities were negally friendless.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER.
CHICAGO, April 11.—With Liverpool fully holding their Saturday advance as shown by the early cables and extending their rally at the close, our market got a firm start and constantly gained strength throughout the session. There were intermittent reactions due to selling, based on further declines in the stock market, but they all met buying orders and were succeeded by sharp rallies to new high levels. Details of government report showed tentative estimate of abondoned acreage had been included, about 14 per cent, of which 20 per cent was in Kansas and 20 to 25 per cent in Nebraska. Of the farm reserves only 40,000,000 were in Kansas and 20 to 25 per cent in Nebraska, the former showing disappearance of 15,000,000 during month of March. While the advance has been very rapid, we consider it justified by sensational character of winter cropnews.

Wheat closed buoyant at the day's top-top point, the highest level touched in about a month, 31-2 to 33-4 cents over Saturday's finish, with corn 3-8 to 3-4c up; oats 3-8 to 1-2c advanced, and provisions showing a rise of 2 to 7 cents.

At times weakness of the stock market led to reactions in wheat prices. A bearish factor was selling ascribed to farm board sources and to foreigners. Liquidating sales of corn carried that cereal temporarily to within 1-4 cent of the season's low price record, but wheat strength acted later as more than a counterbalance. # REVISION OF TARIFF EXPECTED IN BRITAIN

BY HERBERT MOORE.

LONDON. April 11.—(UP)—A "wholesale" recasting of the British general tariff was predicted in political circles last night in connection with the forthcoming budget speech of Chamberlain.

Chamberlain will present the budget in the house of commons April 19, at which time he is expected to make important.

at which time he is expected to make important announcements in regard to changes in the tariff schedules which went into effect this year.

The changes are expected to include reduction of duties on manufactured articles under the normal importations act from 50 per cent to 30 per cent.

At the same time, the general tariff on partly manufactured articles probably will be increased from 10 per cent to 20 per cent, and the duty on fully manufactured articles from 10 per cent to 30 per cent.

Chamberlain is not expected to make any change in the 10 per cent

Although he searched the cupboard carefully. Tip was unable to discover any food. So he went to Mombi's basket which was still on the table. Here he found bread and some cheese, which he took. Then he spied the old pepper box on which was written in pencil, "Powder of Life." "I may as well take this with me," he thought, "or Mombi'll be using it to make more mischief."

society and a good dancer." One young woman said she cared nothing for an ideal man so long as he was rich and one young man remarked that any student that had voted for a cultured wife was a hypocrite.

Girls now in high school and frittering away their time and neglecting their studies wil do well to read the result of this survey and see that many of these college bred youths are placing culture at the head of the list of first requirements in the selection of a mat. And even in the instances where they do not emphasize culture under the name of culture they are calling for qualities that are concomitants of culture.

Their expressed preference will answer the questions of girls who write asking, "What sort of girls do boys like best?" It answers the question of a particular group of girls who write, "We are out for a good time and bored to death with school work. Tell us how to attract the attention of the boys, how to get dates and how to make the boys fall in love with us." It answers it by suggesting that they get to work and cultivate their minds and apply themselves to their school work, regardless of boredom.

The greatest number of men preferred to marry "a cultured, clever, sensitive woman, whose conversation mingles gentleness and wit in gracious proportion." Second choice was the woman "fond of sports and apt in business affairs as well as being an industrious, loyal chum." Third choice was "the womanly, affectionate housewife, practical and competent, whose heart was as dependable as her cooking." The last choice was the woman "both beautiful and chie but thrifty enough to make her own clothes."

He put the box in his pocket, and, after making a bundle of his bread and cheese, he stole out of the house. Outside the moon and stars shone brightly, and the night seemed peaceful and invit-ing. He was walking slowly toward the road when a thought made him pause. "I don't like to leave Jack Pumpkinhead here," he muttered, "and Jack belongs to me for I made him." So back he went to the cowstable where Jack was

Based on the stories by L. Frank Baum

Jack was standing in the middle of the stall, and by the moonlight Tip could see he was still smiling just as jovially as ever. "Come on!" said the boy, beckoning. "Where to?" asked Jack. "You'll know as soon as I do," answered Tip, "all we've got to do now is to tramp." "Very well," ned Jack, and the two travelers set out. Although they could not travel fast, they walked steadily, and by the time the sun peeped over the hills they were safely on their way.

Taking an "Unnecessary" Finesse

BY ELY CULBERTSON.

The coup is one of the rarest and most sought-after plays at the Contract table. Hands which permit this play are far from common, and even when the cards are so distributed that it may be made, players often fail to recognize the situation in time, so that the coup may be successfully accomplish the capture of an adversely held trump, which must be led through, it is found necessary to risk the loss of a trick through taking what appears to be an "unnecessary" finesse to be an "unnecessary" finesse the thrill in the play of the hand is all the greater. Not a great while ago a group of men and women were trying to select a man to head an important committee. A certain man's name was suggested and one of the group objected that he was too impecunious to be influential and since the work necessitated large gifts of money from the so-called big men of the community it was recommended that they should choose one of that number as chairman. But the objector was howled down and reminded that the man in question had qualifications far more important than "big money," and qualifications that the rich men respected more than money. These were as follows: Character, education, ability to express himself well in private and in public, a clear head, and a pleasant approach to people. How did he come by these? Not accidentally. He went to school, he studied, he made the most of his opportunities and his life developed as the oak tree from the acorn. He didn't have the money come to maturity ignorant. FACE TARIFF CHARGE

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)— Persons unlawfully bringing liquor into the United States are liable to prosecution under the tariff act.

The supreme court so decided to-day in the case of John T. Calla-han, who appealed from his conviction of violating the tariff act by import-ing liquor into Delaware.

Punishment provided for tariff act violations are more drastic than those under the liquor laws and Callahan insisted that he should be tried on the charge of violating the Volstead act. The court, however, upheld the decision which convicted him of violating tariff regulations.

At a party conference lasting almost four hours, it was agreed to leave the door open for limited revision of the tariff but shut down debate against any general tariff revamping which might delay indefinitely enactment of the fiscal program.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, announced after the party session that the following resolution had been unanimously agreed to:

"It is the sense of the conference of democratic sources, that the bear

"It is the sense of the conference of democratic senators that the hearings on the revenue bill be closed at the earliest practicable date and that the passage of the measure be expedited in every possible way."

This assurance from the democratic minority in the senate went forward through the country tonight as President Hoover and congressional leaders mobilized their influence to stabilize the nation's economic situation. Earlier in the night, Senator Robinson, had conferred with the presimon

The gravity of the situation which has arisen as a result of President Eamon De Valera's expressed intention to abolish the oath of allegiance to the British crown, was made clear by a statement in the house of commons by J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions.

Mr. Thomas said the British government "reaffirmed in unmistakable language that they stand absolutely by the treaty"—meaning the Anglo-Irish treaty on which the Free State government is based.

The dominions secretary directed attention of the house to the correspondence which has passed between Great Britain and Ireland in the last three weeks.
